VOTERS-ON-THE-GO DEBUTS FOR PRIMARY ELECTION

Indian River County, FL-

A large segment of the population utilizes “smartphones” on a daily basis for business and pleasure. The Indian River County Supervisor of Elections has recently released its mobile-enabled website. This new website feature delivers high-demand voter services via smartphones and other small devices.

“So many people have smartphones these days, the Supervisor of Elections office wanted to present our website on a platform that is easier for people to use,” says Leslie Swan, Supervisor of Elections. “We specifically picked critical services to display on the site. Visitors to the Elections Office website can easily locate their polling place on Election Day utilizing a smartphone.”

In Indian River County, the availability of our mobile site has been extremely useful at voter-registration events,” says Swan. At these events, the question most often asked is, “Am I registered?” Elections staff personnel instruct the voter how to access their voter information utilizing their personal smartphone. If they do not have a smartphone, the Election team member can retrieve voter information on their own phone. The mobile site is also useful when voters are not sure if the elections office has their current address. Florida Statute requires voters to have their current residential address on file with the Supervisor of Elections office.

Political parties and candidates running for office appreciate the new service too because while canvassing neighborhoods they can quickly help voters request absentee ballots. Voters may also check their absentee ballot status including when their ballot was mailed from the Supervisor of Elections facility and the date the voted ballot was returned to the Supervisor of Elections office. The Supervisor of Elections website address is www.voteindianriver.com.
